RICE GERM OIL

The natural support in phases of muscle building

High content of essential fatty acids

Highly recommended in phases of muscle building

Supports regeneration

Our rice germ oil is a high-energy oil. It is a proven support in phases of muscle building. Due to its high content of essential fatty acids and natural antioxidants, it can protect against unwanted harmful substances in the muscles and can thus optimally promote performance and muscle building. Due to its protein-rich energy, rice germ oil is particularly easy to digest and thus quickly available. Its use is therefore particularly recommended in regeneration phases. Rice germ oil is suitable for young horses, sport horses and older animals.

Feeding recommendation:

- Large horse: ca. 25-50 ml per day
- Pony/ small horse: approx. 10-25 ml per day

The rice germ oil can simply be given over the feed. In case of increased need, this dose can also be given twice a day. For optimal effect, we recommend feeding in the form of a cure of approx. 4 - 6 weeks.
